

The WizPod Touch: Wizardry 3.0.

The newest WizPod naturally gives you all the features you've come to expect from the only handheld hardware designed specifically with the working wizard in mind. The complete spectrum of Wizard's Manual data and live updates, the usual in- and out-of-ambit comms features and the enhanced N-way conferencing – they're all there. But the Touch also arrives loaded with release 3.0 of the legendary iSpell intervention organizer (now incorporating the hot new Charmr collaborative spell-building utility), and the just-out-of-beta LongJump worldgating access app. Worried about long hours out on errantry and out of range of a charger? Never a problem again with the carbon-carbon cycle battery that lets you powersynch transparently to the core of your nearest star. And on the nonwizardly side of things, the newly enhanced 120Yb onboard storage means that even your vast collection of podcasts, videos and MP3s won't get out of hand.

But most of all... it's got that sweet touch-sensitive interface, mated to the slimmest, sleekest WizPod yet. Rumor has it even the Lone One couldn't come up with a complaint about this design.

So ask your local Advisory wizards for a demo. (And then hope you can pry it out of their hands, fins or tentacles for a test-drive!)

For warranty and operational details, consult your Manual. Your WizPod will last as long as your Oath does.
